

Law

BTEC Level 3 Extended Certificate

The Course

Studying BTEC Level 3 in Applied Law offers an engaging programme. The course will allow students to broaden their knowledge of the legal sector as well as deepen their skills in analysis, evaluation and application. The course is a vocational or work-related qualification. You will learn about the English legal system which includes Parliamentary law making, delegated legislation and juries among other topics. You will also study the law surrounding offences against the person/property and the law on negligence, as well as family law and Police Powers.

Assessment

Unit 1 Dispute Solving on Civil Law and Unit 3 Applying the Law are externally assessed: A task is set by the exam board with a case study issued two weeks before. The task set is then carried out in 90 minutes under supervised conditions.

Units 2 and 4 are internally assessed through portfolio work.

Entry Requirements

Minimum entry requirements plus:

- Grade 4+ in a humanities subject (if studied)

Careers & Higher Education

Students could progress to higher education or a range of roles in the legal sector. Study of law is also beneficial in business, finance, insurance, human resources and public services.

"If we desire respect for the law, we must first make the law respectable."
